

Empire: Total War Hands-On Day

Publicado por sertorio67 - 15 Feb 2009 23:44

We are holding an open day on the 25th of Feb (though this date could shift a day or two, I should be able to confirm this shortly). This will be a chance for a very lucky few to come to our Horsham office and play the game for the first time and let all your forum buddies know just what all the fuss is about. If you are UK based, over 18 and can make it to Horsham for the morning of the 25th and would like to be considered for the chance to be chosen this is what you need to do...

Email me (

- * With your user name and the boards you post on.
- * A link to some of the posts that you feel best represent your posting style
- * Where in the UK you are based.
- * Then cross your fingers really, really hard.

Good luck and please only contact me if you can make it and you are happy to write a review for the forums.
